for Marcelle

Being the first one at camp is like waking up first at a slumber party.

You just lie there.

You will need: A deck of cards with jokers removed, a sturdy table (or the floor), and two or more players.

Objective: The winner of ERS is the player who succeeds in taking all the cards.

The deal: Players sit in a circle. The dealer shuffles the deck several times and deals it evenly among all players who pick up their stacks of cards without looking at them.

Play: The first player, seated to the left of the dealer, takes the card from the top of her deck and plays it without checking to see what it is. Play continues clockwise, each participant playing one card until a face card (ace, king, queen, or jack) is played. In this case, the next player has a set number of chances to beat the face card: four chances for an ace, three for a king, two for a queen, and one for a jack.

- If she manages to play a face card, play passes to her left and the next player must try to beat it.

- If she doesn't, the player to her right takes the whole stack of cards and adds it to the bottom of her own. If at any time two of the same card are played—i.e., for example, a 2 is played on top of a 2, or a jack is played on top of a jack—all players slap the cards, and the player who slaps first takes the stack. If you lost all your cards or weren't an original player, you can try to "slap in" on doubles. Be careful not to slap when there AREN'T doubles on the stack, though! If you do, you must pay the penalty: take the next card in your hand and place it, face up, on the bottom of the stack in play.

Then camp ended.

The first car in line was my parents', of course, but it's better to leave early, before everyone gets sick of saying good-bye.

Have a great summer! What's left of it.

Promise, you'll write! And don't forget about the Three Musketeers.

I'll write you so many letters, Beth! Remember to send me a CD of your songs.

Thanks for being such a great friend, Rose.

Write me as soon as you get home! You have to tell me about school and... and everything! And your new Campaign!

Hi! Sorry!

For a while I used Shasta's bandana
as a bookmark.
I don't know where it went after that.
